

TI-907

Prepared: October 26, 2000

Short Description:

Requirements for NEPA Analysis on Surplus Lands.

Inquiry:

Following is the caller's question of October 26, 2000, regarding surplus government properties:

When we determine that surplus Coast Guard properties are unsuitable and they are referred to GSA, does GSA have to do a NEPA analysis prior to disposing of them?

Response:

GSA does perform NEPA analysis on all properties conveyed to them for sale. However, this NEPA analysis is for disposal purposes only and does not address any current uses or other issues. It is the responsibility of the agencies involved, (i.e., Coast Guard and BLM) to perform any required NEPA analysis in accordance with their own agencies implementing regulations regarding NEPA.

The materials in this TI have been prepared for use by GSA employees and contractors and are made available at this site only to permit the general public to learn more about NEPA. The information is not intended to constitute legal advice or substitute for obtaining legal advice from an attorney licensed in your state and may or may not reflect the most current legal developments. Readers should also be aware that this response is based upon laws, regulations, and policies in place at the time it was prepared and that this response will not be updated to reflect changes to those laws, regulations and policies.